Mrs. J.H. Ten-Eyck Burr,
Cazenovia, N. Y.

Dear Madam:

Your letter of October 11th is at hand and I am enclosing a list of coin dealers. We do not like to recommend one above the other, because many of them are members of this Society and we do not wish to show preference. In your case, as what you desire to sell is numismatic books, I would state that the Elder Coin & Curio Co. is one that conducts auction sales with perhaps the greatest frequency and I believe that you would, therefore, do well to communicate with them. I think the other coin dealers are less likely to handle books, unless they have an auction sale in prospect.

As we have most, if not all, of the titles you list, we should not be in the market for any of these volumes. I might say for your information that many of these volumes are absolete - rendered so by their engraved reproductions, which are not so dependable as photographic ones. I trust this will give you the information you desire.

Very truly yours,

Secretary
